New coaching venture

James & Wendy would like to let all business owners know about their latest business venture. After trying to do it all themselves they realised that they needed help so having researched as to where to go for assistance they discovered business coaching and saw so much value in the concept they decided to become coaches themselves with Action International.

So combined with their experience of operating three other businesses on the island since relocating here 3.5 years ago, the intensive training program and the global support of Action International they are now offering business diagnostic consultations to assess business owners suitability for coaching.

As part of 600+ coaches in more than 19 countries James and Wendy have seen evidence that most businesses of any size can benefit from coaching.

James & Wendy practise what they preach as they have a weekly coaching session themselves, and now firmly believe that if you are serious about doing business every owner must have a coach. To find out more, contact james today on 3410 7226.
