Centre of growth on show

A LOCAL expo, hosted by Coomera Anglican College, will be held on Sunday and will showcase local businesses and services.

College director of development and community services, Lee Perlitz, said the expo was a chance to discover local businesses and what they could do.

"The Coomera area is set to become a city in its own right and, therefore, offers a secure future not only to families, but also to businesses in the region," she said.

"Coomera Anglican College is located in the middle of this activity and is keen to become part of the larger business community.

"The expo will be a fantastic day out, whether you come alone or bring the whole family."

President of the Coomera Chamber of Commerce, Moira Williams, said the expo was an innovative idea, giving business a wonderful opportunity to build a supportive event.

"The expo is a unique way for members of the business community to support each other," she said.

"I congratulate Coomera Anglican College for their energy and focus in bringing Coomera's amazing business world in to one arena."

The event will be opened by Deputy Mayor David Power with a morning tea at 9.15am.

Doors will open from 10am to 3.30pm, with early visitors receiving a free show bag.

There will also be a sausage sizzle, with other food and drinks available.

A raffle will be held with funds raised going to the construction of a new college resource centre.

Among the fun will be information from industries as varied as health and beauty to sporting and leisure, auto and marine, finance, real estate, travel and giftware.

Free seminars will also be offered from Action International Business Coaching and Extreme Health, with registrations to be made at each stand.

Activities will include:

- Tethered hot air balloon rides from Balloon Down Under for $5 (weather permitting)
- Get up close and personal with a snake at the Coomera Pet Barn,

Produce and Hardware stand

- Taste testing from Cold Rock Ice Creamery
- Free beauty consultations from Mary Kay cosmetics
- A competition to win a mini-makeover from Zest Studio
- Test your putting skills with free games and competitions from Robina Woods Gold Club
- Win free home insulation from Cool and Cosy

The Coomera Anglican College is at Days Road, Coomera. Take the Dreamworld exit (54) off the Pacific Motorway.
